

W. H. GREENWELL DIES

Alexandrian Taught School in That City Many Years.

WON'T STOP CLUBBING DOGS

Mayor Paff Declares Method Is as Humane as Any Other—Really Company Incorporated—John Coleman Laid to Rest—Baptist Association To Meet To-day in Fauquier.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU, (Herald Telephone 614.)

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 13.—William H. Greenwell, who for many years had been a teacher in the public schools of this city, died suddenly this evening about 7 o'clock at his home, 429 North Washington street. Mr. Greenwell's health had been impaired for some time, but he was apparently as well as usual until this evening, when he became ill and died within an hour. Death was due to a disease of the kidneys.

Mr. Greenwell was well known and popular in this city, and the announcement of his death came as a shock to his many friends. Owing to his long connection with the public schools a great many residents of Alexandria have been his pupils. He was a teacher in the Washington School for Boys.

He was about sixty years of age, and was born in this city. After attending school here he continued his education at St. Charles College, in Maryland. Early in life he chose the profession of teaching, which he followed uninterruptedly for twenty-three years in the local public schools. In addition to his wife, two daughters—Mrs. Robert F. Downham and Miss Louise Greenwell—survive him. The arrangements for the funeral will be made later.

Clubbing of Dogs to Go On.

Caustic criticism leveled against the method of killing dogs in large numbers by means of a club will not avail to change the plan which has been adopted in this city to get rid of ownerless and worthless canines. Mayor Paff said this evening that the officers charged with the duty of catching and dispatching dogs would continue their work along the same lines. He believes that the means adopted for giving the animals their quietus is about as simple, efficacious, and humanitarian as could be devised. He denies the charge that it entails an element of peculiar brutality which could be obviated by selecting some other approved way of execution.

The mayor takes the position that in as much as the dogs have to be killed in one way or another, it is of no great moment whether they are shot, chloroformed, or clubbed to death, provided the work of dispatching them is done with sureness, quickness, and precision.

Mayor Paff said that the scheme followed in disposing of the first batch of stray dogs caught had not been devised by him or others concerned in instituting the present crusade against ownerless dogs. He added that the particular method of execution had been left to the judgment of the officer assigned to kill the canines. He declared that he had no fault at all to find with the manner in which the officer had dispatched his duty.

A considerable task remains for the force of dog catchers and exterminators, as it is declared that the city has been for some time overrun with curs roaming at large. The number already killed is considerable in comparison with those which are likely to become victims in the next week or so.

Real Estate Company Incorporated.

A charter has been granted by the State corporation commission to the Federal Agency Company of Rosslyn, Alexandria County, with a capital stock to range between $1,000 and $10,000. The officers are C. L. Campbell, president, of Falls Church; H. C. Meade, vice president, and S. H. Talles, secretary and treasurer, both of Washington. The object of the company is to do a real estate business.

Drowned Boy Is Buried.

The funeral of John Coleman, the boy who was drowned Sunday afternoon at the Dyke, was held this afternoon from the residence of his father, John H. Coleman, 115 King street. Rev. Charles D. Bulla, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, conducted the services, and the interment was in Bethel Cemetery. The pallbearers were friends of the deceased, were Ashby Benson, Luther Nelson, Foster Kidwell, Edward Atkinson, Harold Davis, and Harry Mankin.

Baptists Meet in Fauquier.

The Potomac Baptist Association, of which the First Baptist Church of this city is a member, will open its annual session to-morrow at Marshall, Fauquier County. A number of members of the local congregation will attend. Judge Charles E. Nicol, of Manassas, will preside as moderator of the association.

Moncure Not After Judgeship.

Richard C. L. Moncure, of Stafford County, who represents that county and King George in the State legislature, today visited his brother, Attorney Robinson Moncure, in this city.

Mr. R. C. L. Moncure gave a statement to The Washington Herald to-night, denying that he will, under any circumstances, be a candidate for the circuit judgeship to succeed Judge Barley, and declaring that he would decline the place if offered him by the governor or the legislature.

The funeral of Frederick H. Grillbortzer, who died Saturday, was held this afternoon from the residence of his father, Jacob H. Grillbortzer, 719 South Patrick street. Rev. Edgar Carpenter, of Grace Episcopal Church, conducted the services, and interment was in Bethel Cemetery. The pallbearers were H. Noel Garner, Malcolm Brenner, George Swift, George Brenner, and Julius Wolf.

Mrs. Julia A. Scrivener died to-day at the home of her husband, Frank A. Scrivener, 21 North Pitt street, after a lingering illness. She was sixty years of age. The arrangements for the funeral will be made later.

Mrs. Mary A. McCuen died last night at the residence of her son, W. H. McCuen, 113 North Alfred street. She was seventy-three years old and the widow of James McCuen. Three children survive her. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon, at 5 o'clock, from Grace Episcopal Church.

Old Barge Burns at Sea.

Special to The Washington Herald.—Norfolk, Va., Aug. 12.—The barge Adria A. Litchfield was burned off Cape Henry this afternoon. The vessel was towed past Cape Henry, bound to sea, by the tug Asher J. Hudson shortly after 5 o'clock. A half hour later it was observed to be on fire, and in a few minutes was ablaze from stern to stern. The barge was of 500 tons register. No cargo was aboard, and the lone deck hand was taken off without difficulty. The barge was an old vessel and of little value.

GRAVITY SYSTEM FINISHED.

Lynchburg to Get New Water Supply After Long Delay.

Special to The Washington Herald.—Lynchburg, Va., Aug. 13.—City Engineer Shaner, who is in charge of the construction of the gravity water system for the city, announces that the water from the Pedlar River dam will be turned into the reservoir in the city this week. The water will be allowed to flow into the reservoirs for a day and then it will be cut off at the end of the pipe line, to allow any leaks in the last section to develop. In another week or ten days the system should be in full operation.

The work was commenced more than two years ago, and the construction is fifteen months behind the contract time. The line is twenty-five miles in length, and the water will be taken from an artificial lake held by a concrete dam 600 feet long and 125 feet high at the highest point. The storage capacity of the basin is estimated at 40,000,000 gallons, and the water will seldom become muddy.

The system was estimated to cost $700,000, but the delay of more than a year will bring the cost up to $750,000. The present pumping station which lifts the water from the James River to the reservoirs, will be held in reserve in case of accident to the gravity system.

BIG FIRE IN PRINCESS ANNE

Three Buildings Destroyed and Loss Will Reach $16,000.

Insurance on Burned Property Covers Only Half This Sum—Firemen Do Good Work.

Princess Anne, Md., Aug. 13.—About 6 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the large frame building at Main and Prince William streets, and before it was subdued property worth nearly $16,000 was destroyed. The insurance is about $8,000.

The property where the fire originated belonged to Mrs. William H. Ross, of Fairmont, and was occupied by Oscar F. Jones, grocer; T. J. Smith & Co., grocers; A. J. Haffington & Son, grocers, and H. C. Waller, hardware.

The flames caught two frame buildings adjoining belonging to Mrs. Mary E. Pitts, of Philadelphia, and they were soon in ashes.

By heroic efforts on the part of the fire department the People's Bank and W. O. Lankford's department store were saved.

The loss is as follows:

The Ross property, $4,000; insurance, $2,500. T. J. Smith & Co., loss, $4,000; insurance, $2,500. Oscar F. Jones, loss, $3,000; insurance, $2,000. H. C. Waller, loss, $300.

A. J. Haffington & Son, loss, $400; insurance, $250.

The Pitts buildings were occupied by J. S. Leary & Son, on the first floor, whose loss is $2,000, with an insurance of $1,500, and on the third floor by Manokel Lodge, No. 106, A. F. & A. M., whose loss is $300, with an insurance of $250.

The house was occupied also by Mrs. Jennie R. Jones as a dwelling and millinery store, whose loss is $300, with no insurance.

DISROBES ON RAILROAD TRACK

Young Man Leaps from Moving Train at Wilmington.

Catch Him as He Races, Nude, with Another Train, and Dress Before Arresting Him.

Special to The Washington Herald.—Wilmington, Del., Aug. 13.—Benno A. Hollenberg, Jr., aged twenty-eight years, son of Dr. Benno A. Hollenberg, 11 West 108th street, New York, jumped from a south-bound Pennsylvania railroad train here this afternoon and disrobed on the elevated tracks.

When Policeman Serson and several railroad men reached him he was nude and started to run ahead of a train. After a severe struggle, during which the rescuers risked their lives, the man, who is alleged to be demented, was dressed and removed to the police station. The authorities notified Dr. Hollenberg by telegraph of the affair. To-night a message was received from the physician, asking the police to give his son kind treatment and saying he would come to Wilmington for him.

Hollenberg, who had been visiting his parents in New York, was on his way to Norfolk. He gives Memphis as his home.

MEET AT EXPOSITION

Descendants of Jamestown Settlers Hold Reunion.

FORM A PERMANENT SOCIETY

Miss Du Bellet, Who Engineered the Gathering, Is Given Token of Her Many "Relatives."—Regard-Mrs. Rutherford Proposes Greater Attention to Southern History.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Jamestown Exposition Grounds, Aug. 13.—The descendants of the famous Jamestown-Cary families held their reunion in the Auditorium to-day, and the gathering was largely attended by representatives of the families from all parts of the United States.

The opening hours of the programme were devoted to forming acquaintances. Dr. Daniel H. Morgan, surgeon, U. S. N., a great-grandson of John Smith, and representing the Jamestown-Smith family, was chairman of the exercises. Dr. Morgan opened the reunion by delivering a short historical review of Jamestown and the 165 settlers who made the settlement.

Gift to Miss Du Bellet.

Dr. Edward H. Cary, of Dallas, Tex., a descendant of Miss Cary and Ann Taylor, followed Dr. Morgan, and in a few remarks presented to Miss Louise Pequet Du Bellet, a descendant of the Ambler-Cary branch of the families, a beautiful gold cross and chain, in token of the appreciation of her cordial efforts in making this reunion a success.

Prof. John Nicholas Ambler, of Winston, N. C., great-grandson of Col. John Ambler, of Jamestown, spoke on the achievements of the little band at Jamestown Island 300 years ago, and how "their ashes have been washed on the shores of fame over all the world."

At the close of Prof. Ambler's remarks Mrs. Mildred Lewis Rutherford, of Athens, Ga., representative of the Jamestown-Smith-Rutherford family, spoke on the kinship of the different branches of the family. Mrs. Rutherford also made a plea for greater work in the instruction of children in the early history of Virginia and the real feeling toward the families, during which by-laws were adopted for a permanent organization, to be known as the Jamestown-Cary Family. The organization was started with about 200 members.

CHILD BORN IN SALOON.

Philadelphia Woman Went There When Taken Ill in Richmond.

Special to The Washington Herald.—Richmond, Va., Aug. 13.—A woman traveling from Philadelphia to Norfolk, while taking a stroll between trains near the Chesapeake and Ohio Main street station, was taken suddenly ill and darted into the first open door, which happened to be a saloon, the proprietor of which treated his visitor with consideration and called an ambulance for her.

Before the arrival of the ambulance she had given birth to a healthy boy. She was taken at once to the city home, where she was reported to-night to be in an encouraging condition. Her husband in Philadelphia has been notified of the arrival of his heir.

LULL IN MOROCCO FIGHTING

Occasional "Sniping" Still Furnishes Excitement at Casa Blanca.

Troops Lack Cannon to Bombard Moroccan Strongholds—Minister Reports Town Destroyed.

London, Aug. 14.—The correspondents of the Telegraph and Daily Mail, who are the only newspaper representatives in Casa Blanca, report that there was complete tranquillity Sunday and Monday except for isolated "snipings." Hence the reports of fighting are apparently belated accounts of the engagement on Saturday.

Paris, Aug. 14.—A dispatch to the Matin from Casa Blanca says it is the general opinion there that the number of troops is not sufficient for forward action, and that they must limit themselves to repelling attacks of cavalry. Guns are wanted to enable the bombardment of the Moroccan camp, which is three kilometers from the French lines. The French camp is unfavorably placed, being dominated by the surrounding crests of hills. If the Moroccans possessed artillery, the position would certainly be untenable.

Minister Gummere, at Tangier, cabled the State Department yesterday that he has been informed by the consular agent at Casa Blanca on August 10 that that town had been virtually destroyed, and that the naturalized American citizens there had lost everything. He also says that the foreigners have left Alcazar for Larache for security. Minister Gummere considers the situation very threatening.

He says there is one French cruiser at Tangier, and that it is expected in case of an attack on the town that the Moorish soldiers will join the tribes. Many people, he adds, are leaving Morocco for Spain.

KILL FLEEING BURGLAR.

Williamsport Citizens Chase Man Who Tried to Enter Store.

Special to The Washington Herald.—Williamsport, Md., Aug. 13.—Williamsport was thrown into a state of intense excitement over a tragedy following a bold attempt to rob the store of Harry Bloomberg, on the corner of the main square of the town, between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning.

Emory, alias Hogan Krepis, was shot and almost instantly killed by a party of prominent citizens, who claim to have caught him in the store. Krepis was shot in the back with a shotgun while fleeing down the principal street, and after running a short distance he fell in an alley near the Wabash Hotel and expired.

The attempt to rob the store aroused a number of citizens, who were awakened by the robber smashing a glass in the window. A shot was fired, which frightened him and he left, but returned in a short time and entered the store while some men were watching. Summoning the proprietor, a posse of citizens closed in around the store, and the robber, who found that he was caught, leaped through a window, and though commanded to halt, dashed down the street. He was pursued by the crowd and ran nearly a block amid a fusillade of shots.

Krepis was about thirty-seven years old, and had several brothers living here. He did not bear a very good reputation. His brothers denounce the shooting as being uncalculated, and are urging an investigation of the case, which is being made by Sheriff C. H. Delbert and State's Attorney A. J. Long.

A coroner's jury was summoned and will hear testimony of witnesses to ascertain, if possible, who killed Krepis.

SETTLING BOUNDARY DISPUTE.

Maryland and West Virginia Case Nearing a Conclusion.

Special to The Washington Herald.—Oakland, Md., Aug. 13.—It is expected that the boundary dispute between Maryland and West Virginia will soon be settled. The work of finding deposits at Oakland, Md., and Kingwood, W. Va., was recently completed.

For more than sixteen years this case has been pending in the courts, but the real dispute dates back to when the Virginians were divided, in Maryland's claim to strip from Preston County, east to Garrett County, thirty-six miles long and a mile wide.

"OLD APPLE TREE" FARM SOLD.

Van Alstyne Wrote Popular Song on Place Near Winchester.

Special to The Washington Herald.—Winchester, Va., Aug. 13.—A twenty-acre farm and fine apple orchard near Clearbrook, this county, where Egbert Van Alstyne, the song writer, is understood to have composed his famous song, "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," was sold to-day to John H. Hinkel Henry, of Winchester, by his sister, Miss Louise Henry, the vaudeville celebrity, who recently secured a divorce from Van Alstyne.

The consideration was $4,500. Van Alstyne decided the property to his wife several years ago, after writing the song which has made him famous.

GAITHER IS A CANDIDATE

Will Accept Nomination for Governor if Offered to Him.

His Announcement May Turn Republican Sentiment from Phillips Lee Goldsborough.

Special to The Washington Herald.—Baltimore, Md., Aug. 13.—George R. Gaither this afternoon gave out the following announcement of his gubernatorial candidacy:

"In deference to the kind inquiries of so many friends, I am desirous that my position shall be understood by the public.

"While not seeking the nomination, if the convention shall be of the opinion that I should be nominated as their candidate for the governorship, I will accept it. On the other hand, if my judgment is in favor of any other nominee, it will give me the greatest pleasure to earnestly support him.

"Mr. Gaither's declaration may change the current, but this morning all over the Hotel Rennett, where the Republicans are gathering for the State convention at noon to-morrow at the Maryland Theater, the drift was plainly toward Mr. Phillips Lee Goldsborough for the nomination for governor.

"The city delegates to the convention assumed a don't-care-anybody-suits-me attitude, but after it was known that Mr. Gaither would run, the feeling was that if the city delegates should go to work for him and push his cause, Mr. Gaither would probably sweep the convention, for word is coming in from the counties of Western Maryland, one after another, that the people in that section want the Baltimore man named for governor. Should the Western Maryland politicians leave the delegates alone, there is no doubt that they would go to Mr. Gaither almost unanimously. With Baltimore city, the real fighting ground, for the gubernatorial race, and Western Maryland, the Gibraltar of Republicanism, back of him, the rest of the State would feel compelled to fall in line.

"At a meeting of the Republican leaders held last night at the Rennett, the platform to be adopted to-morrow was discussed. It is said that the platform will pledge the party to authorize the appointment of a public utilities commission to have supervising over all public-service corporations. Such a commission exists in New York.

"A plank regarding the oyster question, it is said, will be inserted and another plank will register the party's disapproval of the change of office of the State having for its aim the disfranchisement of voters.

"COUNCILMEN SWORN IN.

Annapolis Body Admits Men Whom Mayor Opposed.

Special to The Washington Herald.—Annapolis, Md., Aug. 13.—After working since the municipal election on July 5, with only six instead of eight members, the Annapolis city council last night, by its own action, filled its quota of members.

Although Mayor Claude, who had originally raised the question of the eligibility of Jesse Wilson, the white Republican returned elect as alderman from the Third ward, and refused at a former meeting to administer the oath to him, stood by his objections, he acquiesced in the will of the majority and swore in Wilson last night.

At its previous meeting the council passed an order stating it was the sense of that body that Wilson and J. Albert Adams (colored) had been elected over their Democratic opponents, notwithstanding the stuffing of the ballot-box in the Third ward.

The councilor submitted a legal opinion last night, sustaining the eligibility of Mr. Wilson, and the council then by a vote of six to one—Adams having first been sworn in—voted that he be given his seat.

QUIET AT ONANCOCK

Race Trouble, However, Expected to Break Out Again.

SOLDIERS PATROL THE STREETS

Gov. Swanson Starts for Norfolk, Leaving Strong Military Protection for the Whites, to Whom He Commits the Situation—Marylanders to Help Put Down Trouble.

Onancock, Va., Aug. 13.—This city, the scene of the recent race rioting, is quiet to-night. The troops ordered here by the governor yesterday are patrolling the town.

The troops were sent forward by Adjutant General William A. Anderson, who returned to Norfolk yesterday, after accompanying the governor to Onancock. Additional troops were rushed forward this morning from Norfolk, and will remain on the scene until the trouble has subsided.

The situation is still critical, and there is still danger of a further outbreak between the whites and the blacks.

Governor Leaves the City.

Gov. Swanson returned to Norfolk this afternoon, as he anticipates no further trouble unless it is provoked by the negroes. He advised the whites in his speech here last night that it is "up to" them to maintain the supremacy of their race. The second detail of troops was not necessary, the governor says, and the order for them would have been countermanded but for the demoralization of telegraphic communication incident to the strike of the telegraphers.

Negroes in Ugly Mood.

The negroes in the vicinity of Onancock are shrinking from the soldiers, but they are still in a bad humor, and ripe for trouble. A carload of white citizens from Pocomoke City, Md., arrived here this afternoon. They came at the invitation of the people of Onancock, and will remain until the trouble is over.

Another five minutes of hard work ensued before he was placed in a cot again.

A POPULAR SAILOR BLOUSE.

The so-called "Peter Thompson" has come to be a great favorite with girls of all ages, and sailor blouses of all sorts which suggest the free joys of the sea are well liked. There is so much of practical service in one of these suits, as well as youthful becomingness, that no amount of fashion would lend them more prestige than they have won for themselves. Here is shown a suit of true sailor style having the fanciful applied yoke and long shoulders. The blouse is slipped over the head, there being no opening, while the shield is separable and worn when desired. A variation of the usual style is given here in the shorter length sleeves, finished with pretty rolling cuffs. The skirt is a box pleated one fitting smoothly over the hips and rippling full at the hem. Linen, crash, flannel, and broadcloth are used for these suits, 3 1/2 yards 42 inches wide being needed for this one. In the medium size, Sizes 12, 14, 16 years.
